Result of Games for World's Professional Billiard Championship.

NEW YORK, November 29 .-- A triple tie for the world's professional 18.2 balk line billiard championship resulted from to-day's play in the tour-nament at Madison Square Garden. At the afternoon session George Sutton, the afternoon session George Sutton, of Chicago, defeated Firmin Cassignon, the French champion, and this evening Calvin Demarest, of Chicago, won from George Siosson, the New York player. The two winners of to-day therefore are tied, with Harry P. Cline, of Philadelphia, each of the three having completed his schedule of four games won and one lost. The scores of the six contestants for the championship are as follows:

Demarest playing Cline Wednesday, the loser of that match playing sutton Thursday, and the winners of the two matches playing on Priday.

The Demarest-Slosson match this evening was a close argument for the first half, but in the latter half Demarest scored heavily, going out in the thirty-second inning with a brilliant unfinished run of $2, and winning by 8. score of 500 to 364. Slosson made a remarkable run of 123 in his eleventh, finally missing a three-cushion try by the narrowest margin. This spent the Slosson score up to 191, against 115 for Demarest, but the Chilago player overcame this lead with a series of two figure runs, and kept his lead for the remainder of the con-

The conditions under which the dogs ran were trying, for it was very dry, and while there are plenty of birds on the grounds, it was difficult for the dogs to handle them.

The All-Age Stake of the Pointer Club of America begins here to-morrow. This event will have eight starters, among them being the pointer Furlough Hobo, owned by George J. Gould, of New York. Another well-known dog is Master Pierce, owned by Ancell H. Bail, of New York.

This is the dog that won two firsts here last year. Academy—Matinee and Night—"The Red Mill."

"The Red Mill." which came back to the Academy of Music last night, is an old favorite, but the company presenting it was a trifle shy. Any good musical comedy can be ruined in bad hands. There were few, if any, good voices. Bert Swor and Franker Woods, as the two Americans, did well, considering the fact that they had poor support. The audience was amused by their Italian act, but it was the monkey that kept it from falling flat.

The redeeming feature of the entire performance was the work of the Dutch Kiddles, who were "cute" but they looked as if they were all fagged out from keeping such late hours.

The front seats downstairs were filled with a gay crowd of men, who seemed to amuse the chorus nore than the chorus amused the house. Each man wore a white flower, which in time was tossed to some particular member of the chorus, but alas! the chorus has passed the age for such frivolity. The Dutch Kiddles kept themselves awake by catching the flowers and carrying them around in their baskets.

When played by a No. 1 company "The Red Mill" is great. There will

Good Show at Bljou.

Following a most successful engagement last week with "The Burgomaster," the Bljou last night presented in the Man of the Hour," an American play which has won its way to fame because of its merit. Incidentally, the Bljou management deserves a word of commendation, for the same production in the hands of a company of no greater ability was oftered at the Academy of Music several weeks ago, when seats sold at three times the figure charged at the popular playhouse on Broad Street. Colonel Roosevelt once said that the "Man of the Hour" was the best play he had ever seen.

Lecture-Recital.

No feature arranged for the fall and winter concert series in Richmond by the Radcliffe Entertainment Bureau has aroused more general interest or promised more real pleasure to lovers of fine dramatic art than the lecture-recital to be given at the Academy Wednesday evening by Frederick Warde, probably the greatest of American tragedians and Shakespearean scholars.

After a remarkably successful career on the stage, which he deliberately abandoned in order to devote himself exclusively to his favorite field. Mr. Warde won a new and even higher place in the estimation of capable critics by his splendid work on the lyceum platform. At the recital here he will give one of the best of those Shakespearean recitals that have aroused the enthusiasm of many large audiences in the North and West. The tragedian, in addition to his consummate acting, always has something new to say on a subject that never grows old.—Adv.

Joseph Jefferson, allas Rip Van Winkle, and Anderson Brown, two colored youths from the country, were observed looking into a jewelry store from the back door yesterday afternoon, and the officer on the beat, remembering the previous robberies, decided that both were suspicious characters, and arrested them. Both youths seemed and confessed to be green. They had just arrived.

A careful examination shows that the skull is not injured.

Plans for Schoolbouses.

The State Board of Education is sending out plans for the erection of model one, two, three and four-roomed school buildings. One part of the work of the Department of Public Instruction is in advocating the erection of schoolbouses along modern, convenient and sanitary lines.

A feature of the plans, suggested by a Virginia educator, is ventilation for the wardrobes in which the pupils hang their clothes. A current of air comes up from under the building and passes out through the chimney, drying and airing the clothing.
